BY TASHA SILVERHORN O'odham Action News tasha.silver horn 2@srpmic-nsn.gov

The Red Mountain Riders are a sovereign nation motorcycle club founded on November 6, 2007, by the late George L. Lerma, James Osife, Leonard Villenueva and Gabe Castaneda. The group has 13 other members, who include Eldon Moore, Dennis Toya, Gary Garrett, Manuel Lyons Jr., Abalino Garza, Ignacio Rodriguez, Sarah Rodriguez, Tammie Willie, Ron Willie, Roy Roma, Carl Young, Judge Hudson and the late Ed Luz.

The Red Mountain Riders are a diverse group of working professionals committed to making positive differences and promoting Community involvement by honoring veterans and respecting cultural values of all nations.

Although the mission for the Red Mountain Riders is to help others, they also like to ride for the fun of it. The group has been on a number of trips during the summer months, taking to the open highway to places such as Las Vegas, New Mexico, South Dakota and California.

To Disney ... and Beyond!

BY DALTON WALKER

O'odham Action News dalton.walker@srpmic-nsn.gov

A chance meeting almost 400 miles away from their homes in the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community and shared love for "The Happiest Place on Earth" has led to a wonderful friendship that has taken Maria Chavez and Kay McAnlis all across the country, and potentially the world.

Back in 2016, Chavez and McAnlis had just finished a 5K race at Disneyland Park in California when they happened to spot one another among the thousands of racers and visitors. They chatted some, not yet knowing it would be the spark of a running-buddy relationship. "I just happened to run into her; I recognized her right away," Chavez said.

Chavez had traveled to Disneyland on her own, specifically to run in the 5K. McAnlis had traveled with family members, who watched her from the sidelines.

They always knew of one another, and Chavez remembers being on the same bus together to the old Salt River Day School and attending the same church. But the two didn't become close until that chance meeting at Disneyland.

Both are huge fans of Disney and have visited the park several times over the years for fun and for the 5K. Both have an annual pass. For a recent Halloween, the two dressed up as Mouseketeers. Over the holiday season, Chavez met up with McAnlis and her family at Disneyland Park for a quick getaway.

McAnlis's favorite characters are Winnie the Pooh and Bambi. "I just enjoy Disney," she said. Chavez has always been a fan of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Goofy. "It brings back happy memories when I see them. It just reminds me of being a kid," she said. When she visits, "It's a Small World" is a must-ride, plus she indulges in the corndogs and candy apples.

Last year, the pair flew to Florida for a 5K at Walt Disney World Resort. They'll do it again in April for the Star

McAnlis ran her first Disneyland 5K in 2014. She started doing 5Ks in the Community and wanted to do more, so she signed up for the Disney run. "You don't have to run; you can jog or walk it," she said. "There's no pressure."

McAnlis said her goal is "to continue to keep up with my grandchildren, go to their games and make many more Disney trips. I've been blessed."

Chavez started running near her home in 2015 after a family health scare. She wanted to get healthier. She's been a Senior Stepper for years but needed to do more physically, she said.

"I've liked to travel ever since I was little; I like to see new things, see new people," Chavez said. "When I was younger, I was really shy. Going out and running helped me to get out of my shell."

SALT RIVER PIMA-MARICOPA INDIAN COMMUNITY EXECUTIVE OFFICE UPDATE

PRESIDENT MARTIN HARVIER & VICE-PRESIDENT RICARDO LEONARD

Opportunity Zones

The Opportunity Zone program was created to revitalize economically distressed communities using private investments rather than taxpayer dollars, with the investors gaining certain tax advantages. The proposed Opportunity Zone regulations were released in October 2018 for comment and a hearing held.

Q: The current language does not address use of the Opportunity Zones program on tribal trust lands. Is this a program that the Community can utilize?

President Martin Harvier: If you look at the Opportunity Zone map (see graphic), it designates the entire Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community as an Opportunity Zone. The problem is that the Opportunity Zone language does not include administering the program on tribal trust lands. Investors must be able to purchase the land they plan to develop, and that is not possible on reservations. During the National Congress of American Indians (NCAI) mid-session, we discussed having the language inserted so that leased lands could be included as part of the program. I also testified in front of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Committee, asking them to include language on the tribal trust lands.

Q: Can you tell the Community why this program is important?

Harvier: The program is meant to revitalize areas identified as economically distressed. Designating an area as an Opportunity Zone spurs economic development, which in turn creates jobs and a tax base that the Community can use for other programs. It also gives interested investors the chance to invest in developments within the Opportunity Zones; the investors receive certain tax breaks and at the same time help new development projects take place.

Vice-President Ricardo Leonard: There is one thing in there that makes us different, especially the four tribes: we all have allotted land, except for Ak-Chin, which I believe is tribal land. We are set apart from other tribes that may be all tribal lands, as opposed to allotted lands through the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Q: The subject of Opportunity Zones was discussed at the NCAI mid-session, in Washington, D.C. What was the outcome?

Harvier: It was an issue that the Community brought up as a concern, as it affects other tribes as well. I think that overall, all the tribes have development potential in their communities and were very supportive of the comments. To see copy of NCAI resolution or opportunity zones, go to OAN online edition at oodhamnews. org.

Opportunity Zone map. Visit https://www.azcommerce.com/arizona-opportunity-zones/

Q: What else would you like the Community to know about Opportunity Zones?

Harvier: Landowners can also take advantage of the program. When a developer is interested in developing on individual lands, and the developer would like to use the Opportunity Zones funding but can't, that developer might go across the street and develop their project over there rather than developing on Community-member property. It would be a benefit for the landowners and the government if language could be inserted relating to Opportunity Zones on leased lands.

Drug and Alcohol Initiative

The last administration initiated the Fight Against Drug and Alcohol Abuse and signed a Proclamation "to commit to a campaign to battle the increasing trend of illegal drug distribution, illegal drug use and the resulting deaths from alcohol and illegal drug use occurring in the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community."

Q: Is this still a priority?

Harvier: I think the drug and alcohol issue is always going to be a priority in the Community. It's frustrating, because it seems like those Community individuals affected by drug and alcohol don't attend the Community meetings. As elected officials, we wish they would attend the Community meetings so we can get the message out to the people being affected, especially those wanting to make a change. We're concerned about the availability of illegal drugs on the Community and the deaths they are causing. It's going to take everyone to be part of the solution: tribal leaders, family members and friends all need to get the message out to users that they are taking a big risk when they continue to abuse drugs and alcohol.

Leonard: I agree with President Harvier; each drugrelated death affects the entire Community. The majority of those passing away are young people. There are also people who take drugs one time, and it can affect their mental capacity. We set up programs to deal with these types of mentalhealth issues, but I think more people need to be involved. At one time there was a saying, "It takes a community to raise a child," and I go back to that statement, because it takes a community to help youth understand about drugs and alcohol. We have people stepping up to raise awareness because they know or have been down that road of drug or alcohol abuse and want to help.

Q: Do you think the drug problem here has gotten worse over the past couple of years?

Harvier: I don't know how much worse; I think it's the type of drugs or what's in the drugs, such as fentanyl, that makes it seem worse. If you don't know what's in it, you're taking a chance on what you are putting in your body.

Leonard: One thing I would like to say to Community members is that the police are trying to do their job. They have made a lot of busts outside the Community. If you are being stopped, understand this is what we have to do to try to stop the alcohol and drug abuse in our Community.

Q: How do you plan on moving forward in the fight against drug and alcohol

Harvier: I know by the time this issue of O'odham Action News comes out, during spring break, there will be a conference on drug and alcohol abuse presented with funding from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). The Community was awarded a grant for use specifically in the area of educating youth about drug and alcohol issues. During spring break they are planning a conference, and approximately 75 youth are attending. That is just one of the things taking place.

Q: Does Council plan on having more Communitywide meetings on drug abuse and alcohol?

Harvier: Council has already approved construction of the new Journey to Recovery building to help those who are seeking help. Also, we have approval to move forward to utilize a group home as a sober-living home, so that when individuals successfully come out of drug and alcohol abuse they are not put back in the same environment where the abuse began in the first place. They have a place to go. I believe that we will be calling another Community meeting to go over what's being done in this area.

Q: At Community meetings when Community members speak up and voice their concerns, what happens to their comments?

Harvier: Those concerns are written down, and when various government departments hold staff meetings, they discuss the comments and how to possibly use them in moving forward. It's important that if someone feels strongly enough about an issue to voice their opinion, they should not feel that it's going to be ignored. If you don't say it, no one is going to hear it. I would encourage members to voice their concerns at meetings.

Q: Is there anything else you would like Community members to know?

Harvier: One thing I want to do is address this idea that Council has made up their minds on the business action items before they even discuss it at Council meetings. In the past, it seemed like when an issue was coming up before the Council, all discussion would take place at the Council meeting. A lot of discussion on the issue was heard by the public at the Council meeting. But those discussions no longer take place during the Wednesday Council meetings; instead, they now take place at the Thursday work sessions. For almost 13 years, we have had work sessions on Thursdays, and the items to be placed on the agenda for the next Council meeting are discussed at the work session. Both open items and executive items are addressed at the work session,

AMC's Ride with Norman Reedus fourth episode "Valley of the Sun with Austin Amelio" of the show's third season, which aired on March 4. The two actors rode into the SRPMIC, taking in the sights of the Community, then pulled up to the Red Mountain Riders headquarters near Alma School and Camelback roads. Reedus and Amelio met the Red Mountain

Riders and asked them about their group. The bikers and their wives shared their knowledge of the Community and the people and how they support and give back to the Community. Then they all rode to the Beeline Highway, where they stopped at the old back road to Red Mountain, taking some photos with the beautiful mountain in the background. They then made their way to Fountain Hills to eat lunch and talk.

"Riding is always a way to break down yourself and the outside world, and these guys have taken it a step further, using their riding to connect their community to this sacred land, making the bikes they ride and vests they wear a symbol of honor here," said Reedus in the

Although it was only a fourminute segment in the 40-minute episode, this was a big deal for the Red Mountain Riders and for any Norman Reedus fan. The group went through a two-month-long process of talking to the show's producers before they even knew if they would actually be filmed for the show. They went through background checks and meetings with the production company and even signed releases that prohibited members of Red Mountain Riders from sharing photos and/or videos of any kind before the airing of the show.

Osife recalled, "We got the call a week or so before the filming. We had to get our helmets microphoned and sign release statements, and finally it came the day to film [in January 2018]. We were all excited. We got to Leonard's house (where the Red Mountain Riders meet) and we waited for them to arrive. Once they arrived, we talked with them and went on to the Red Mountain," said Osife. "What usually took a 20- to 30-minute drive took three hours to Fountain Hills."

"It was cool because we had the opportunity to see how they film these shows," explained Villenueva. He added that there were camera people in vehicles in front of and behind the motorcycle group during the filming. "There are even stunt riders weaving in and out of the riders" filming with cameras. Also featured in the episode are Community members Michelle Johnson, Mick Antone and Cindy Washington, who gave a brief history of the Community and described what it's like living in the Community.

Red Mountain Riders Featured on

"It's very big for Salt River and [the Red Mountain Riders]," said Villenueva. "It's very well deserved for us, because we've done a lot [for the Community]; a lot of people don't realize how much we do. What's interesting about the show is that they showcase the motorcycle community and all the friendships you make, and the people you ride with, and how everything connects."

"One of the things we wanted to include but didn't make the show was all the work the late George Lerma did to help get the group going," explained Osife. Lerma, a founding member, has been an influential part of the group, and the Red Mountain Riders hope his family is proud to see what he helped start and feels proud to know that he was and is a part of them.

More About the Red Mountain Riders

The group has committed its time and services to helping veterans in any way possible, whether it is providing funeralprocession escorts, gathering donations of any kind for families in need, or having fun participating in parades.

The group started out being the escorts to the USS Arizona Flag that was donated to the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community by the Pearl Harbor Memorial. They would escort the flag to the Arizona Capitol during the Pearl Harbor Memorial held every December. They were also big supporters in the Veterans Powwow that the Community used to hold every spring.

"One of our big events we would participate in is the Light Parade here in Salt River," said Osife. "We took first place, and with that monetary reward we used that to help out families in the Community by buying them groceries and things they needed for their home."

"It's a good feeling to help people out in that way, and that's something we always tried to do is help people out when they need help," explained Villenueva. Ride Like the Wind Another of their most memorable trips was when the group escorted a young soldier returning from Iraq, meeting him at Sky Harbor Airport and escorting him back to his home in Mexican Water, Arizona. "It was cool to see this young man's face when he on. saw all these bikes there at the It airport to escort him home. was a He didn't believe we were trip Vilgoing to ride with him all the lenueva said he way back to his home," said was happy to take Villenueva. "His parents were grateful that we were there to get him home safely.'

Other trips included a ride to the Gathering of Nations Pow Wow in New Mexico to meet up with about 200 bikers who were mostly Native American; and a trip to Las Vegas, after which Villenueva and Lerma continued on to San Francisco, the longest ride they ever went

Q: Do people know that the work sessions are open to Community mem-

Harvier: That is one of the things we are trying to do now, is increase awareness that work sessions are open, but executive work sessions are not. The work sessions used to be held on the third floor in Administration; now they are held on Thursdays in the Council Chambers. If anyone is interested to hear the discussions about agenda items, they are welcome to come to the open session on Thursday. You will hear the discussion on the item prior to the Council meeting. For example, when a resolution is presented, we will discuss it beforehand at the work session so that when it is brought up at the Council meeting, it's time for Council to vote to either approve or disapprove it. I would encourage interested members to find out which issues are on the agenda by calling the Council Secretary's Office at (480) 362-7469. That way they can come and hear some of the discussion on the topic(s) that interest them.

Leonard: The Government Portal provides you access to the Council Sessions (regular session and work session) through our vendor Granicus. Community members who cannot make it to the work session in person can sign into the system using their tribal ID to watch the meetings or work sessions, see box, with directions how to sign up. It allows Community members to see what's going on, and if they have questions, they can bring them up to their Council representative.

Right now, I am continuing to understand my position and working with President Harvier, knowing he has [served as Vice-President] before. I am trying to understand where I should be and what I should be doing. I still have the people in heart and mind.

Animal Control Technician (ACT) Traveleah Chavez (Navajo) is a highly trained, skilled and certified professional witvh a bachelor's degree from the University of Arizona in animal science/equine industry and experience from working on a 3,500-acre ranch in New Mexico. ACT Chavez is often the lead investigator in any animal cruelty investigations conducted by the SRPD Ranger Squad. She is also a certified Animal Control Officer.

SRPD Ranger Officer Massey assists with the downed tree cleanup.

ACT Chavez and our SRPD Rangers handle all animal calls in the Community and assist SRP-MIC Range Management with monitoring the Community's wild horses and eagles. They also assist in barbed-wire fencing repairs to protect the resources of the Community as well as deter illegal crossing, illegal dumping, and theft of cactus and natural resources. The Rangers also will often help cut wood for cultural projects or events.

As an example of the activities in which the SRPD Ranger Squad takes part, they recently assisted a Community-member elder with a 45-to 50-foot tree in the front yard of her residence.

The tree had been leaning toward the house, and due to the age of the tree, the elder was concerned it might fall on her house in the next storm. The Salt River Fire Department cut the tree down, and the elder arranged for a family member to cut up and remove the tree.

After several weeks of not making much progress, Ranger Off. Randall offered assistance. On February 7, he cut up the tree and arranged through SRPMIC Juvenile Probation Officer Gwen Osif to have several juvenile probationers come out and assist in the cleanup. This was an excellent example of the Community-based policing provided by the SRPD Ranger Squad.

Every month, the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community seniors hold their breakfast meeting, either in Salt River or Lehi. This month, on March 6, the seniors took their meeting to the Lehi Community Building.

SRPMIC President Martin Harvier welcomed the seniors to the meeting. Also present were Vice-President Ricardo Leonard and Council members Archie Kashoya, Deanna Scabby, Wi-Bwa Grey, Cheryl Doka and Diane Enos.

The meeting started with introductions, then staff and the Tribal Council served the seniors breakfast. Many SRP-MIC departments had booths set up with information and updates for the seniors.

The Colorado Rockies baseball players made a special guest appearance, and many seniors took time to meet them as well as get a picture with pitchers Mitchell Kilkenny and Colton Hathcock.

SRPMIC Health and Human Services Director Violet Mitchell-Enos introduced Joseph Remitera, the Community's new Health and Human Services Director. Remitera shared some information with the seniors about his background and experience in the healthcare industry.

Linda Soto gave a Child Find presentation to update the seniors on what the program looks for and what the seniors need to have when they request services such as proof of guardianship of their grandchild.

The Salt River Police Department introduced its new recruits to the seniors, gave an update on crimes in the Community and passed along some safety tips. Each presentation was about 15 minutes long.

Lastly, the Senior and Disabled Community Advisory Committee hosted a fashion show. Participants showcased their traditional attire and provided a description of each piece.

becoming more confident individuals.

Broadcaster Tom Leander of the Phoenix Suns welcomed everyone to the clinic. Also making a guest appearance was the Phoenix Suns Gorilla.

The Suns drafted King last summer. He has been playing for both the Phoenix Suns and Northern Arizona Suns and travels back and forth to games in Phoenix and Prescott

King talked with the youth about his schedule. "It has been crazy these past few months," he said. "I have been playing on the two teams and getting in shape as well. Since I am new, I embraced everything and went with it."

King said that his best game so far was against the game of 23 points vs. Agua Caliente on Nov. 16.

The youth were divided into four groups and rotated throughout the clinic learning basketball skills: how to dribble, playing defense, how to shoot and overall teamwork. The clinic also offered a hands-on activity emphasizing team building and communication.

The Suns staff and players also discussed the NBA Fit program and what it means. "It means eating properly; we don't always eat the best for our bodies, but since I'm a professional basketball player, I have to eat very healthy in order to sleep better and play better on the court," said King to the youth. "I had to put away the junk food, like candy and chips, and pick up salads." King stated that it was important for him to exercise and eat more fruits and vegetables.

King has played sports other than basketball. His parents enrolled him in T-ball, soccer and football when he was young. "I played as long as I could, until I started growing taller, when I went to basketball," said King. "I think everyone should try multiple sports."

Former Phoenix Suns player Steve Hunter also took part in the clinic. "The message today is that basketball brings us all together," Hunter said. "I met some of my best friends while playing basketball. Talk to somebody you have never talked to today, have fun and make new friends. This is as much a social event as a basketball event.'

Officials Continue to Monitor Gilbert Road, McKellips Road During Closure

BY DALTON WALKER
O'odham Action News
dalton.walker@srpmic-nsn.gov

Snowfall in Arizona's high country continues to have an effect on the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community in the form of road closures.

Winter storms dumped a record amount of snow in parts of Arizona, and one snowstorm reached parts of the Valley, including Fountain Hills and north Scottsdale. A dusting of snow was visible on parts of Red Mountain on the morning of February 22.

When the snow melts, and depending on how much snow fell during the season, the runoff fills reservoirs and lakes and then makes it way down the Verde River or Salt River to the Granite Reef Dam. This year, the Verde River flowed high, mainly because of additional water releases upstream at the Horseshoe and Bartlett reservoirs, SRPMIC Emergency Manager Cliff Puckett said.

Salt River Project monitors the Granite Reef Dam and released water into the dry Salt River, which resulted in some road closures in the Community.

On March 2, Maricopa County's Emergency Management and Transportation departments closed the two-lane northbound Gilbert Road in the Lehi area, north of Thomas Road and south of Beeline

Highway, where the road separates some from southbound traffic. With the northbound lanes closed, the two-lane southbound Gilbert Road ran both ways. The southbound road has a high bridge, while the northbound side is closer to the riverbed. In early 2017, that stretch of Gilbert Road was destroyed by water flow and was repaired and upgraded after water flows ceased. Plans are in the works for a higher, permanent bridge on the northbound side.

The water flow, about 4,500 cubic feet per second (cfs), flowed down Salt River past the dam. The water wasn't overflowing onto Gilbert Road northbound as of early March, but it was close enough to close the road. The dam regularly releases water, but not all water makes it down the riverbed to reach Gilbert Road.

On the same day, a small stretch of McKellips Road, east of Alma School Road to where Loop 202 exits to McKellips, was closed because water overwhelmed the road. The Salt River Fire Department responded that day to a technical rescue after a van got stuck trying to drive across the water. The driver was safely rescued, Puckett said, but he warned drivers that if they see water on any road, don't cross it.

Puckett is in regular contact with Maricopa County and Salt River Project officials and receives notifications when water is released from the Granite Reef Dam.

Maricopa County posted barricades on both roads, and it's not yet known when they'll come down and the roads will reopen, as rain and snow were predicted in the Valley and Arizona's high country. Stay tuned to O'odham Action News for updates on Gilbert Road and McKellips Road.

At time of print northbound Gilbert Road was reopened, McKellips Road remains closed.

If you missed the STREAM Extravaganza at Salt River High School, you missed a lot.

The activity-packed, two-hour event was held in the gymnasium on the evening of February 26. It attracted more than 200 people.

"STREAM" stands for Science, Technology, Relationships, Engineering, Art and Math. STREAM incorporates all the elements of STEM and STEAM, adding Relationships for an even more well-rounded education.

More than a dozen exhibitors were on hand, showing off their STREAM-related talent with experiments and demonstrations like Ozobots® and coding.

Senior and recent thirdplace Arizona state wrestler Gregorio Martinez got the event off to a rocking start with his electric-guitar rendition of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The exhibitors were set up in the gym while other happenings took place in nearby classrooms or outside.

Salt River Schools Superintendent Dr. Louis Laffitte hosted a Community Forum about the school district's math curriculum vendor information and survey. College students or potential college students could also get help with financial aid and enrollment during a FAFSA Party.

There was an Early Childhood Education Center Marble Racing Challenge for the little ones, and Salt River Elementary School hosted the "Car Wars" Challenge, in which students who built toy racecars got to see whose car traveled the farthest distance.
The high school held a similar racecar challenge, but their cars were made out of mousetraps.

The event also included a student art show, traditional-food tasting and a free pizza dinner. Visitors could take part in the scavenger hunt for a chance to win an iPad Mini, Ozobot robot starter pack and other great prizes.

CERT Training Opens Eyes on Cyberterrorism Awareness

BY TASHA SILVERHORN

O'odham Action News tasha.silverhorn2@srpmic-nsn.gov

The Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community's Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster (VOAD)/Community Emergency Response Team (CERT) March 2019 training class focused on cyberterrorism awareness. The class took place on March 5 at the Two Waters Building and was open to SRPMIC members, employees and CERT members.

SRPMIC Information Technology Cyber Security manager Thomas Tardy led the program on cyberterrorism, which described the methods that cyber criminals use to hack the computer systems of both individuals and organizations.

Several videos illustrated how hackers can disrupt an individual's digital life in the blink of an eye and how cyberattackers can disrupt a company's servers and cause absolute chaos. This is particularly problematic in emergency-services fields.

"In the United States we have the idea that hackers are bad and are criminals; but in other countries, if you're a hacker, you're a celebrity, famous and popular," said Tardy. "There are a number of [types of] hackers out there: script kiddies, white hats, black hats, hacktivists and nation-state."

Script kiddies are inexperienced "wannabe" hackers who can do a lot of damage by encrypting hard drives or blowing up servers. White-hat hackers are security researchers who try to find vulnerabilities and patch those vulnerabilities. A lot of the white-hat hackers are moving on to being black-hat hackers, Tardy said, because there is more money in that area. Black-hat hackers identify vulnerabilities and exploit them for financial gain.

"Hacktivists, you never know what side of the fence they will land on. They go after whoever they feel offended by," Tardy said. "Nation-states don't [hack] for financial gain, but [for recognition]; they seek out healthcare information because they can't find on it on the dark web."

The videos showed different kinds of cyberattacks: a phishing attack, a viral attack and even a hack on a vehicle.

In the phishing attack, a man challenged a hacker to see if she could get his email address from his cell phone provider. The hacker used a "crying baby" sound effect on the phone and played the role of an overwhelmed wife and mother; within five minutes she was able to not only get his email, but she also added a new phone to his account and changed his password information, effectively locking him out of his own account.

Cyberattacks also can target emergency-services providers, such as hospitals and 911 dispatchers, resulting in delays of emergency services. Tardy explained that the SRPMIC CERT and emergency responders should be prepared in case there is a mass-casualty event and the attackers also used cyberattacks to delay emergency response. There should be a backup communications plan if such an event should happen. These plans come after a college student from Arizona shut down 911 call centers not only in Arizona, but also in California, Washington, Texas and Florida. The man wrote a six-line script posting to Twitter, and everyone who clicked on his link had their phones automatically dial 911 over and over, overwhelming the system. This prompted 911 call centers to plan to update their systems to avoid similar hacks in the future.

Those in attendance gained a whole new perspective on how easy it is for hackers to steal an individual's personal information or affect an entire community, state or the country.

Salt River Emergency Management will be hosting a full-scale Cyberterrorism Awareness Training exercise on Thursday, March 28, from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the Salt River Community Building. For more information, contact Emergency Management Coordinator Terry Nelson at (480) 362-7929.

Skeg tas! Good Day! My name is Kaily LaRue Toney. I am the daughter of Kathy Johnson-Toney and Theodus "Odie" Toney. I am 22 years old and currently a senior at Grand Canyon University. I have entered the halfway mark of my reign and I am so excited for the next half of my journey as Miss Salt River. My Platform I have focused my platform on mental health. There are many who are experiencing mental illnesses; I see it as a huge issue within our Community that holds many of our young people back. I have had my struggles with depression, anxiety and self-doubt and know the pain that it brings. It is an issue not often talked about in the Community. Over time, I hope it can become a topic that is not pushed to the side; but rather, we can embrace the positive change that can come from treating mental illnesses. It should not be an illness that is allowed to overcome our people. During the next few months, I will be planning an event alongside Miss Salt River First Attendant Veronica Flores that will focus on mental health and culture, merging our platforms to uplift and inspire the young women in our Community. I am very grateful to hold the title Miss Salt River. It has been challenging, but through it all, I know I have grown and have become empowered with every event and each person I meet. I am very excited for the next few months. Future Participants I encourage the young women who are thinking about running for the Miss Salt River title to go for it because [if you leave your comfort zone, you'll find] growth that you never expected to happen for yourself. Please reach out to me through the pageant committee for any questions or if you would like to know more about my personal experience so far. I would love to meet you all! # Community Team "Below the Rim" Wins and "SR Visak" Comes in Third at Camp Verde Tournament

SUBMITTED BY VICKIE ANDREWS

Players for Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community basketball teams Below the Rim (fifth and sixth graders) and SR Visak (seventh and eighth graders) packed their bags and headed to Camp Verde on February 23 and 24 to compete in the annual Exodus Days Youth Co-ed and Junior High Basketball Tournament. It was a change for both teams to compete against teams that are different from the ones they are used to playing locally.

Every game was exciting for both teams, and all the players did their best, giving their opponents some intense competition. Below the Rim stayed on top of their game and took the championship title, while SR Visak took third place in their division. They had some tougher competition with teams who overwhelmed them in height, but they never gave up and gave it their all.

Father-and-son coaches Kent and Keith Andrews are happy to interact with these young people and see them develop as basketball players. The players are from different schools and are actively involved with school athletics or club teams, so practice sessions are sometimes a challenge. For the coaches, the opportunity to work, have fun and pass on "old school" basketball knowledge to the players is their reward.

The coaches would like to thank the parents who have shown so much support to their players by getting them to practice and attending the games to cheer them on. You are all appreciated, and we thank you for giving the coaches the opportunity to work with your children.

To all the extended families who made it to Camp Verde to support the teams, we truly appreciate your being there. Your presence motivated the players, along with all the cheers! Thank you. Congrats again to both teams!

New to the O'Odham Action News is a feature titled the Human Resources (HR) Scorecard. You might be curious and ask, "What is this all about?" There is much more that goes on in HR then just hiring – however, helping Community Members obtain employment is one of our most satisfying activities.

The HR Scorecard provides an overview of personnel activity over a monthly period and includes: position information; employment counts; the number of employees who utilize HR services; personnel transactions; and a snapshot in time of the current state of operations within the Human Resource Department.

If you have any questions, or just need to find out more information on the programs we offer at the SRPMIC Human Resource Department, please visit our employment website: https://www.governmentjobs.com/careers/srpmic, call (480) 362-7935, or just stop by the office, located at Two Waters, Building B, 1st Floor.

The proposed ordinance would add another Council member to the Gaming Enterprise Board, and there would be a total of 9 Board Members on the board. Many other enterprise boards have

2 Council members sit on their boards, including, Salt River Sand & Rock, Phoenix Cement, the Landfill, Saddleback Communications, and the Talking Stick Golf Board. Because the Casino Enterprise is an important board to this Community, the proposal is to add an additional Council member to sit on the board.

Council Begins Text Notification for District Meetings

BY RICHIE CORRALES

richie.corrales@srpmic-nsn.gov

Since February, the Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community's Tribal Council Support Team has been working on improving communication and getting information out to the public about district meetings. The Text Notification Program is the newest communications tool and joins Council's Facebook posts.

Users will be able to receive information regarding upcoming district meetings by texting SRPMICMTGIN-FO to 41411. Users can also subscribe for free to receive information regarding only their district by texting one of the keywords listed on the flyer/postcard. You do not have to be an enrolled Community member to sign up and receive the notifications.

The idea was suggested by Council member Archie Kashoya in an effort to improve attendance at Council district meetings. Staff researched various programs and began utilizing the same text-messaging notification system used by the Salt River Senior Center.

Since launching the program, 60 people have signed up. The support team has posted the information to the SRPMIC Facebook page, intranet, internet, Community Announcements and digital signage, and the program information also has been presented at a Council meeting and at district meetings.

It is the Council members' hope that the text notifications will get more members out to attend the district meetings so they will be better informed about what is happening in and around the Community. The team also hopes to utilize the program for regular Council meetings, special Council meetings, meetings of the Anti-Drug Awareness Campaign, election reminders and similar events (see ad below).
